Hello Abby! I noticed that you were an SCSU alum and were a past member of the American Marketing Association at SCSU. This school year, I am on the e-board at SCSU AMA and am a Management major with a concentration in Human Resources, which made me interested that we have something in common since you currently work in HR. I have a few questions on how you achieved your current work position. If you would like to talk, please let me know. Thank you!

iCloud computing and mobile devices will revolutionize our world. It's freeing because you can telecommute from anywhere, even on vacation. But then it's not a vacation. And then there is the question of cybersecurity. Obviously, there are pros and cons to change.

I would agree with Faith. iCloud and mobile devices are changing the way the world does business. Technology is constantly adapting to create more secure and efficient ways to store data. It is possible that relocating to work for a firm will be in the past. I look forward to the opportunities that new technologies will bring to the business environment.

CHAPTER 11
How to Communicate via LinkedIn

Let’s not beat around the bush. There are two categories of job seekers: those who are serious about their job search and those who are not. If you are not on LinkedIn, you are firmly in the latter category. Being on LinkedIn is the “cost of doing business,” especially these days, and if you choose to have no presence on this platform, you risk putting your job search at a serious disadvantage.
