

Publications and Marketing

<http://universityrelations.cornell.edu/>

The Office of Publications and Marketing, a department within University Communications, provides writing, editing and graphic design services. It works with clients to produce magazines, newsletters, annual reports, catalogs, brochures, and other materials for both print and posting on the Web.