Cornell University is committed to providing a safe, inclusive, and respectful learning, living, and working environment for its students, faculty, and staff members. To this end, Cornell will not tolerate sexual and related misconduct. Through Cornell University Policy 6.4, and the applicable procedures for students, staff, and faculty, the university provides means to address bias, discrimination, harassment, and sexual and related misconduct, including gender-based harassment, sexual harassment, sexual assault, domestic and dating violence, stalking, and sexual exploitation.

We share the responsibility for creating a safer, more caring campus culture in which bias, harassment, and violence have no place—and every member of our community is free to flourish. Cornell University complies with applicable state and federal statutes, including Title IX of the federal Higher Education Amendments of 1972, which prohibits discrimination on the basis of sex in any education program or activity receiving federal financial aid. Sexual assault and sexual harassment are forms of sex discrimination prohibited by Title IX.

- To make a report to Cornell of gender-based harassment, sexual harassment, sexual assault, domestic and dating violence, stalking, sexual exploitation, or other forms of sexual misconduct, go to biasconcerns.cornell.edu to make an online report to Cornell or see the list of other reporting options.
How To Apply

Get Involved

The Policy 6.4 procedures for the resolution of reports against students, which became effective August 1, 2016, include a hearing with a three-member hearing panel of faculty and staff members as well as a non-voting hearing chair. The Policy 6.4 procedures for the resolution of reports against employees, which became effective June 1, 2019, include a faculty or staff co-investigator and a hearing with a three-member hearing panel of faculty and staff members as well as a non-voting hearing chair. Individuals who are willing to serve as co-investigators or on hearing panels are asked to complete a brief application, which is set forth below. We appreciate your candor and time in completing the application, and your willingness to consider this appointment. If you have any questions or need additional information about either the application process or co-investigator/hearing panel responsibilities, please contact Chantelle Cleary, Cornell University Director of Institutional Equity and Title IX Coordinator, at chantelle.cleary@cornell.edu or 607-255-2242.
