Letters in a Maple Rhyme

A traditional Maple Rhyme
Give a maple tree a tap
Fill a bucket with the sap
Boil it down and it gets sweet,
Maple syrup, a golden treat!

In the rhyme above circle the letter a each time you find it
Count how many time you circled the letter a? _____

In the rhyme above draw a square around the letter b each time you find it.
Count how many time you found the letter b? _____

In the rhyme above draw a triangle around the letter c each time you find it.
Count how many time you found the letter c? _____
Find the tube that leads from the tree to the sugarhouse.

Maple tubing is used by many maple producers to bring the sap fresh from the tree to the sugar house for boiling.
Find your way through the tree maze into the bucket.

Like in this maze, maple trees have growth rings each year that tell how old the tree is, the maze would represent a tree nine years old (count the rings). Real maple trees are between 35 and 70 years old when they are finally big enough (10 inches in diameter) to tap for sap.
