Background Information and Funding
In 2004, Cornell University became one of the first universities in the nation to offer a child care grant program for student-parents. The objective of this program had been to provide financial assistance to as many Cornell students with child care expenses as possible. In 2015, Cornell made a significant investment in our student-parent community by contributing $250,000 to be awarded annually as Student Child Care Grants; another $100,000 was added in 2017. Cornell’s funding for the Student-Parent Dependent Care Grant Program is $350,000 for 2021-22. Because we prioritize offering the academic year Cornell Student-Parent Dependent Care Grant Program, the availability of the Summer Care Program will be determined by funds left over after the 2021-22 program has ended.

The goal of the 2021-22 Cornell Student-Parent Dependent Care Grant is to provide greater access to intentionally support more student-parents and provide financial support that allows student-parents more flexibility and autonomy to determine how best to use the funds to support their child(ren) and individual situation.

How Does the Program Work?
Student-parents can receive a taxable grant based on the dollar amount of grant funds available and their ability to meet eligibility requirements. As noted below, eligibility looks at the student’s academic status, household income, and the age of the child. After an assessment of the various eligibility requirements, some families will be eligible for partial grants, and others will be eligible for full grants.

In the spirit of meeting the objective of serving as many Cornell student-parents as possible, and given the finite pool of funds available, awards will be made to all applicants who meet the eligibility criteria. However, the amount awarded may be less than the maximum indicated depending on the number of eligible students.

Maximum grant award amounts for January 2022 - June 2022:
- Infant/Toddler/Preschool (infant through preschool): maximum of $1,580 per child
- School-aged Children (kindergarten up to age 13): maximum of $400 per child
- Age 13 through High School Graduation: maximum of $200 per child

There are also special categories that would warrant additional grant funds. If you are a single parent or have a child with a disability, you may qualify for the following amounts:
- Infant/Toddler/Preschool (infant through preschool): maximum of $400
- School-aged (kindergarten up to age 13): maximum of $125
- Age 13 through High School Graduation: maximum of $60

The maximum award amount per household is $4,825.
Who is eligible?

1. All Cornell student-parents are eligible to receive the Cornell University Student-Parent Dependent Care Grant.
   a. If your spouse or partner is a student at Cornell, your household can only apply for one grant.
   b. If your spouse or partner is employed by Cornell as a benefits-eligible employee, you are not eligible for the student grant. In this circumstance, please apply for the faculty/staff grant program. Families can not apply to both programs.

2. Student-parent needs to be enrolled as a full-time student in a Cornell University degree program at the undergraduate, graduate, or professional level during the semester that you apply for the Student-Parent Dependent Care Grant.

3. Student-parents need to be the custodial parent or legal guardian of a child (newborn through high school graduation) during the academic year.

4. The child(ren) must reside full-time in your local residence while you are completing your academic program. Awards may be pro-rated for student-parents who have a child(ren) in full-time custody during part of the academic year.

11. If you do not meet posted eligibility requirements, but believe your situation warrants special consideration, you are encouraged to submit an application and provide information about circumstances.
