OVERVIEW:

Nutrition management is a critical factor in determining the production potential of dairy enterprises. The feeding program can influence the prioritizing of expenses. In many cases over 25% of the variable costs associated with operating a dairy are directly incorporated into the purchasing of feeds. Furthermore, harvesting techniques, feeding methods, housing strategies, and monitoring these areas can play key roles in the growth and milk production responses animals express to a particular nutrition program.

DAIRY DISCOVERY will be focusing this year's workshop on "Maximizing the Feed Management Program". Youth will understand, observe and participate in technical skill training related to such topics as:

1. Effect of Nutrition on Growth
2. Nutrition and the Rumen
  - a) Understanding the fermentation process
  - b) Impact of feeding program on the rumen
3. Forage Quality
  - a. pH and DM spell what?
  - b. Yum-Yum-Pee-You
  - c. Appraisal of feeds
5. Total Mixed ration-TMR
  - a) Make and shake your TMR
  - b) Figuring TMR composition
  - c) Calculating the ration
