and militarism, policing, human security, and political economy to and contributions to our understanding of the nexus between gender course on Masculinities in International Affairs, taught by MenEngage.

On October 21, world-renowned feminist international relations scholar

...