Senior Manager Course in National Security Leadership

Based in the heart of the nation’s capital, the George Washington University Senior Manager Course in National Security Leadership is a two-week executive education course that forges a new model for senior leadership training.

Whether you are preparing for an advanced leadership role in the military, transitioning to a new role within the government or private sector, or hoping to gain a better understanding of your U.S. government counterparts, this is an unmatched opportunity to gain crucial skills and access.

Through this course, senior leaders gain valuable insight into:

- Working with Congress
- Understanding the U.S. National Security budget
- Counterterrorism and counterinsurgency strategy
- Resilience and energy security
- Cyberwarfare
- Leading Organizational Change
- Regional conflict and instability
- Analyzing complex challenges
- Evaluating policy options
- Forging your strategic narrative
- Building interagency and international coalitions

TUITION:
Course tuition is $9,500, including some meals and local travel during the program.

DATES:
March 6 – 17, 2023 (on-campus)

ACADEMIC CREDIT:
Graduates of the program who complete a 15- to 20-page research paper on a topic related to the course are eligible to receive 3 graduate credits from the GW Elliott School of International Affairs, which may be applied toward advanced degrees including the Master of International Policy and Practice (the Elliott School’s 27-credit midcareer Master’s degree program).

ELIGIBILITY:
The course is open to senior military officers (O-5 and above) and civilian executives (GS-14 and above, or equivalent) from the U.S., other governments, and senior executives in the private sector dealing with international security issues.

HOW TO APPLY:
Application forms are available at https://nssp.elliott.gwu.edu

Learn more at www.nssp.elliott.gwu.edu
and enroll today!

Email: nssp@gwu.edu