Question 5: Will there be restrictions on accessing & sharing your final research data?

SAMPLE 1:
I will share my final data under the CC-BY-NC Creative Commons (CC) license.

SAMPLE 2:
I will not be applying any Creative Commons license but will instead be imposing the following restriction to the sharing of my final data: not open sharing but on a private individual basis.

My reasons are: There are certain terms in the agreement that I sign with a third party that do not allow me to openly share some of my data. Anyone who is interested in my data could write to me at email: abd@yahoo.com and I would see what I can share based on his/her needs.

SAMPLE 3:
I will not be able to share my final data.

My reasons are: Even with the removal of all identifiers, we believe that it would be difficult if not impossible to protect the identities of subjects given the physical characteristics of subjects, the type of clinical data (including imaging) that we will be collecting, and the relatively restricted area from which we are recruiting subjects. Therefore, we are not planning to share the data.
