Guide

Question 7: What documentation will you be providing to facilitate a better understanding of the project data?

- List the documentation that you would be providing to explain how the data is to be interpreted and used. Examples of documentation:
  - codebooks
  - lay summary
  - readme.txt
  - webpage
  - electronic lab notebook

- Content of documentation could include the following:
  - Methodology and procedures used to collect the data
  - Details about codes
  - Definitions of variables
  - Variable field locations
  - Frequencies

Additional Information:
- Visit the ‘Document your data’ by UK Data Service for more guidance on the different types of documentation.
- Visit the ‘How to write a lay summary’ by Digital Curation Centre for more guidance on why lay summaries are important, how to write one and examples.