

School of Humanities:

Preparing the next generation of game changers for the working world

School of Humanities

Our Graduates Are

READY FOR THE CHALLENGES OF THE REAL WORLD

Student Attributes

Student attributes are high-level qualities, skills, and understandings cultivated through the learning and experiences of students over the course of their education. The School of Humanities provides many opportunities for students to develop and enhance their personal attributes and ability to secure the outcomes they seek, and confidently manage their onward careers. In addition to students demonstrating deep conceptual understanding of their chosen discipline, the degree programmes also prepare them to work effectively across disciplinary and cultural boundaries, and innovatively apply their skills to tackle complex real-world issues.

Attributes of our Humanities students

Communication

Transdisciplinarity

Global perspective

Ethical reasoning

Curiosity

Creative thinking

Diversity and cultural intelligence

Sense-making

Information literacy

Philosophy has given Claudia the tools to argue effectively and the ability to be less “black and white” about things.

Claudia Ang Hui Lin
Philosophy, Class of 2018

Our Graduates Are CAREER-READY

The literary texts that we analyse often reflect the society that they depict. Chinese studies has enabled Ming Feng to understand characters, learn to be more sensitive and empathetic, communicate with others, and foster her emotional quotient and interpersonal skills.

Kee Ming Feng
Chinese, Class of 2020

Analytical thinking

Business development,
strategy and management

Learning and development

Creative content and product development

Data management and analytics

Policy strategy
management skills

Stakeholder and customer
management

Governance and compliance

Research skills

The NTU Linguistics & Multilingual Studies curriculum has provided Josephine with tools such as critical thinking skills, communication techniques, and the ability to make sense of complex problems. These tools have helped Josephine immensely in her career.

Josephine Lim
Linguistics & Multilingual Studies, Class of 2016

Learning in History in particular and the Humanities in general has a self-directed nature. Linus has learnt how to become more resourceful and developed his ability to take in as much information as possible, while retaining an ability to decide which pieces of information to discard as irrelevant.

Linus Lee
History, Class of 2017

Chinese

COMMON JOB TITLES

Educator	Advertising/Public Relations Manager
Journalist	Business Consultant
Editor	Business Development Manager
Administration Manager	Market Research Analyst
Insurance Professional	Policy and Planning Manager
Multimedia Developer
Communications Professional

English

COMMON JOB TITLES

Educator	Multimedia Developer
Management Executive	Private Tutor
Editor	Research Officer
Sales and Marketing Manager	Client Account Service Executive
Advertising/Public Relations Manager	Business Development Executive

History

COMMON JOB TITLES

Management Executive	Police Officer/ Immigration Officer
Research Officer	Communications Professional
Educator	Advertising/Public Relations Manager
Data Scientist	Systems Designer/ Analyst
Investment Advisor
Human Resource Consultant

Linguistics and Multilingual Studies

COMMON JOB TITLES

Business Development Executive	Sales and Marketing Manager
Research Officer	Management Executive
Journalist	Advertising/Public Relations Manager
Educator	Client Account Service Executive
Private Tutor
Administration Manager

Philosophy

COMMON JOB TITLES

Administration Manager	Customer Service Manager
Advertising/Public Relations Manager	Immigration Officer
Management Executive	Human Resource Manager
Business Development Executive	Market Research Analyst
Business Development Manager	Educator

Studying Literature has exposed Izza to many different and nuanced perspectives from people of diverse backgrounds. She has developed her writing and communications skills, critical thinking abilities, sense of empathy, understanding of language and behaviour, and appreciation for diversity. These skills are much needed in the workplace, where many problems are human-related.

Izza Haziqah binte Abdul Rahman
English, Class of 2020

Our Graduates Are FUTURE-READY

An education in the Humanities at NTU goes a long way

Our Humanities alumni have gone on to excel in their careers across a range of industries. Some of their employers are listed below. Would you like to add your company to this ever-growing list?

Get in touch with us today at soh_ug@ntu.edu.sg

- Agency for Science, Technology and Research Singapore
- Alibaba Group
- Amazon
- American Express
- Apple
- Bank of America Merrill Lynch
- Books Kinokuniya
- Channel News Asia
- China Literature
- Chope
- Circles Life
- Citibank
- Cloudflare
- DBS Singapore
- Defence Science & Technology Agency
- Dyson
- Early Childhood Development Agency
- Ethos Books
- Facebook
- Fuji Xerox
- GIC
- Google
- HBO Asia
- LinkedIn
- Mediacorp
- Ministry of Culture, Community and Youth
- Monetary Association of Singapore
- National University Health System
- Ogilvy
- Rice Media
- Samsung
- Singapore Art Museum
- Tatler Singapore
- TBWA
- Tik-Tok