Understanding Call Numbers

Have you ever wondered how library books and journals are assigned their places on the shelves?

NTU Libraries, like many major academic libraries in the world, uses the Library of Congress Classification for call numbers. This system uses a combination of letters and numbers to arrange materials by subjects. Therefore, you can often find several helpful books on the same shelf, or nearby.

Below is a selective listing of topics which may be of interest to you.

Discovering Our Rich Online Resources

NTU Libraries has a wide range of resources which includes ebooks and ejournals. They are accessible via our homepage at www.ntu.edu.sg/library.

Here is a selective listing of specialized databases that can get you started on your research. Access them via Library Homepage.

JSTOR

JSTOR is a full-text database that offers retrospective access to journal articles, in some cases, dating back to the 1800s. Another unique feature of JSTOR is that it displays images, graphs and charts that were originally presented in the article (unlike databases which only preserves the text). However, JSTOR does not offer access to the most recent articles published.

Oxford Bibliographies

Your Best Research Starts Here

Oxford Bibliographies Online

Oxford Bibliographies offers exclusive, authoritative research guides. For each topic there is an article with an introduction written by a top scholar in the field and an authoritative guide to the current scholarship with original commentary and annotations by top scholars.

Digital Dissertations & Theses

The Dissertation Abstracts database is the single, authoritative source of doctoral dissertations and master's theses from over 1,000 accredited North American graduate schools and European universities.

The Philosopher's Index (via EBSCOHost)

The Philosopher's Index is a bibliographic database that also provides author-written abstracts in all major areas of philosophy. More than 540,000 records are drawn from over 1600 publications and include print and electronic journals, books, anthologies, contributions to anthologies, and book reviews.

Arts & Humanities Citation Index

Arts & Humanities Citation Index is a multidisciplinary index covering the journal literature of the arts and the humanities. The index provides access to bibliographic information and cited references. It is also searchable by keyword, author and citation. This database is part of the Web of Science set of citation indexes.

PhilPapers

PhilPapers is an indexing service maintained by a community of philosophers. The index is supplemented by an open access archive. There are links to extant online content and friendly categorisation to help with searching.
