RARE Participant

Holly Howell

Holly Howell Holly received her Bachelor of Science in Natural Resources Planning from Humboldt State University. Continuing her education, Holly recently received a Masters in Urban and Regional Planning from Portland State University. She decided to choose the aforementioned educational path as a result of her desire to work closely with the public on issues that impact the quality of life within Oregon's communities and regions. Prior to initiating graduate school at Portland State University, Holly worked as an Assistant Planner for the City of Redmond where she gained valuable experience and insight into city planning and related fields. Following her year with the RARE Program, Holly hopes to find a job in the Pacific Northwest, preferably Oregon, that will allow her to enhance the communities in which we all live, work and play.
