Managing Different Generations in the Workplace—Effective Strategies for Success

Sarah Jester is an enthusiastic career educator whose main goal in life is to empower people through education. As the Assistant Director for Career Advising at the Lundquist College of Business, she coaches undergraduates and MBAs in developing life-long career management skills and finding meaningful work through advising, instructional design, and collaborative programming across campus.

Previously, Sarah developed a mentor program at the UO Career Center, and worked in performing arts administration at Reed College, and the UO. She holds an M.S. in Educational Leadership and Policy from Portland State University with a specialization in training and development, and a B.A. in Journalism from the University of Oregon.

Sarah was a four-year member of the Oregon Marching Band and gives back to her alma mater by serving on the Oregon Alumni Band Board of Directors.
