Weekly Log: Comparative Technologies 5/15/2014

I have made much headway in editing and placing paintings, adjusting and installing sculptures, working with color and texture, and creating my own sculptures. Visited Eric’s class at Cal Young and had a lovely conversation about temporary art galleries, museum programming, and youth arts education with a few of Eric’s students; they also enjoyed looking at my design work. Images from Sketch-Up below: