

SHANGHAI WORLD EXPO 2011

Jun Li is the Chief Architect for the Shanghai Xian Dai Architectural Design Group, which is the largest A/E firm in China. He has been an architect and professor of architectural design for over thirty years. He has worked on a number of major private and public projects throughout

China including the 2010 Shanghai World Expo. His award-winning firm, Xian Dai was responsible for the Expo's Performing Arts Center, EcoHouse and supervision of national pavilions. An exchange program is being developed between Xian Dai and the University of Oregon's Architecture Department. In 2010, Jun Li sponsored four UO architecture students to intern at Xian Dai. The internship program will become an annual event and Xian Dai employees will come to Oregon for advanced studies.

Jun Li

XIAN DAI ARCHITECTURAL GROUP

Portland

6:00 p.m.

Tuesday, May 17, 2011

UO in Portland

Turnbull Open Space, Level 3R

White Stag Block
70 N.W. Couch Street
Portland, OR 97209

Eugene

5:30 p.m.

Wednesday, May 18, 2011

Lawrence Hall
Room 206
1190 Franklin Boulevard
Eugene, OR 97403

TOP: Performing Arts Center, Shanghai World Expo, photo by Will Hastings, Flickr.com
BOTTOM: Shanghai World Expo Site Model, Shanghai Urban Planning Centre