This course explores early social theorists (Marx, Durkheim, Weber and DuBois) and the historical conditions under which the study of society emerged in Western thought.