Oregon Coast
Archaeological Field School

Summer 2020: September 6 - 19
Location: Oregon Institute of Marine Biology (OIMB)

Learn the fundamentals of archaeological survey and excavation on the beautiful southern Oregon coast. Participants will be based at OIMB in Charleston, OR (visit http://oimb.uoregon.edu).

Great opportunity for anthropology majors or undergraduates interested in archaeology, anthropology, interdisciplinary science, and Native American studies.

Fees: ~$2625 – includes 8 credits (ANTH 406), housing, meals, transportation, equipment, supplies, and project T-shirt.

ANTH 406 – Graded option

No prerequisites or minimum GPA requirements

For more information contact Dr. Scott M. Fitzpatrick (smfitzpa@cas.uoregon.edu)
Battle Rock (Port Orford, OR)

- William Tichenor (captain of the Sea Gull)
- Landed on June 19th, 1851
- Dropped off 9 men with small arms and small cannon
- Repelled attacks by local tribe
- Left after parlay and fled to Fort Umpqua
• Collaboration with Coquille Tribe
• Visits to cultural and natural sites along Oregon Coast
• Oregon Institute of Marine Biology
8 Credits – Cost Comparison ($2,625)

Resident Tuition & Fees (2019)
- $1,984.00 – Summer
- $2,608.00 – Regular

Non-Resident Tuition & Fees (2019)
- $4,368.00 – Summer
- $6,856.00 – Regular