Master of Nonprofit Management Program Description

The Master of Nonprofit Management is a professional degree providing training for students in administration of nonprofit organizations. Due to the astonishing growth of the nonprofit sector over the past three decades in the U.S. and the equally rapid growth of nongovernmental organizations internationally, the sector has professionalized. Nonprofit employees now seek master’s-level training in order to advance their careers and specialize in nonprofit administration.

Fully 9 percent of the U.S. GDP is now produced by nonprofit and philanthropic organizations. The nonprofit sector is no longer a career that people fall into, but an avocation that students prepare for with a rigorous, focused degree program.

This degree is distinct from a Master of Business Administration and a Master of Public Administration due to the nonprofit sector’s unique funding and management structures. Unlike businesses, nonprofits gather revenues from a variety of funding streams, each with its own unique development challenges: government and foundation grants, membership revenues, gifts from major donors, broad-based support (small gifts), special events and sponsorships, endowment income, commercial revenue (such as fees for services, ticket sales and subscriptions), bequests, and many other forms of funding peculiar to the nonprofit sector.

Nonprofits also operate in a tax-exempt financial reporting environment, in which financial management issues and accounting challenges differ considerably from those faced by businesses. Nonprofit human resource management shares some features with business and government sectors, but also has unique aspects, such as volunteer recruitment, motivation and management. To illustrate, managing a corps of volunteers without the motivation of salary is a daunting task and its difficulty is often underestimated.

Service to a broader public mission is a feature shared by both the government and nonprofit sectors, so it is not surprising that a majority of the nation’s nonprofit administration programs have emerged from schools of public administration or public policy. Yet again, the nonprofit administrative skill base differs from that required in government agencies. Government revenue originates from the tax base and budgets are determined hierarchically. Government entities are constrained in their operation due to legislation, in an effort to ensure that public funding is not misused. The nonprofit sector, in contrast, is comparatively free to experiment and innovate without binding controls on process. Governments contract out to nonprofits, and government management now frequently centers on the ability to create public outcomes via networks of providers, whereas nonprofit management is largely internal.

Despite the differing features of the government, business, and nonprofit sectors, drawing on professional training elements from all three sectors is critical for a Master of Nonprofit Management. We have crafted a strongly skills-focused curriculum, melding best practice elements from the three sectors into all courses. As long as you take advantage of the opportunities we’ve built into the program to network with other professionals in the nonprofit/philanthropy sector, you’ll find that the MNM degree provides the right foundation for a career in nonprofit/NGO or foundation leadership.
University of Oregon is highly engaged in helping shape our growing academic field. Faculty are prominent researchers in their areas of expertise, and our curriculum reflects our nonprofit/NGO-first approach to the degree. Along with a handful of other universities, we are in the very first cohort of programs to gain accreditation – a process we are undergoing this year.

A welcoming environment depends on all of us. The School of Planning, Public Policy & Management is a community that values inclusion. We are committed to equal opportunities for all faculty, staff and students to develop individually, professionally, and academically regardless of ethnicity, heritage, gender, sexual orientation, ability, socio-economic standing, cultural beliefs and traditions. We are dedicated to an environment that is inclusive and fosters awareness, understanding, and respect for diversity. Please get involved in the PPPM-wide Equity Initiative – everyone is welcome to help push PPPM to be a learning organization and an inclusive place for all students. If you ever feel excluded or threatened, please provide, at the very least, some anonymous feedback so that we can learn. Or talk to us -- contact your instructor and/or the MNM program director or PPPM School head. You can also call the university’s 24-hour hotline, 541-346-SAFE, to be connected to a confidential counselor to discuss your options. If you are experiencing hate or discrimination, you can obtain resources on: RESPECT.uoregon.edu, or phone 541-346-5555.

MNM Curriculum

The 70-credit program prepares students to become effective and creative leaders in the nonprofit sector. The program is comprised of four components: 1) core courses, 2) an elective field of interest (concentration), 3) internship and professional development training, and 4) the management sequence and management consultancy course. The UO Graduate School requires you to be enrolled in at least 3 credits per term, including your last term in the program. The exception is summer term, when you may take zero credits. If you need to drop down to fewer than 3 credits per term or take a leave of absence during the academic year, see the section on UO Graduate School Policies later in this handbook.

MNM Core Courses

The eleven core courses (31 credits) provide students with the leadership, management, and financial skills to be effective leaders in the nonprofit sector.

First Year, Fall term

PPPM 618, Public Sector Theory
4 credits
The context of professional public services includes the history and theoretical foundation for public policy and management in the government and nonprofit sectors.

PPPM 656, Quantitative Methods
5 credits
Develop skills in using quantitative analysis to evaluate policies and programs. Emphasizes selecting appropriate analysis procedures, interpreting results appropriately, and writing clearly about findings.

PPPM 680, Managing Nonprofit Organizations
4 credits
Principles of effective management of nonprofit organizations. Focuses on governance, strategy, legal structure and standards, and volunteer administration.

PPPM 623, Professional Development
Students identify career goals and prepare professional materials for the internship and post-graduation. If you are working in a professional position currently and intend to continue in that position after graduation, you may waive PPPM 623 and replace the credit with an elective credit.

First Year, Winter Term

PPPM 581, Fundraising for Nonprofit Organizations
4 credits
In-depth introduction to fundraising for nonprofit organizations with an emphasis on annual giving, major gifts, planned giving, and campaigns.

PPPM 610/681, Nonprofit Financial Management
4 credits
Analyzing the financial health of an organization, budgeting, maintaining steady financing throughout the year, financing special projects, and safeguarding the assets of an organization.

(Additional credits winter term of the first year are management or elective course credits.)

First Year, Spring Term

PPPM 586, Philanthropy and Grantmaking Seminar
2 credits
Overview of the history, economics, and practice of philanthropy and grant making in the United States. Students study philanthropy from a multidisciplinary perspective and finish the quarter by awarding a $20,000 grant to a nonprofit organization of their choice.

PPPM 522, Grant Proposal Writing (this course is offered every term)
1 credit
An introduction to the process of preparing grant applications and material for funded research.

(Additional credits spring term of the first year are management, elective, or internship credits.)

Summer Term between First and Second Year

Complete 3-credit internship (can be completed during the academic year). A few nonprofit courses are available during the summer as well. Note that tuition is cheaper Summer term.

Second Year, Fall Term

PPPM 687, Nonprofit Board Governance
1 credit each term
Students learn the principles of board governance in class (2 to three sessions per term) while serving on governing boards of nonprofit organizations for one year. This course continues Winter and Spring terms for a total of 3 credits.
PPPM 686 Nonprofit 48-Hour Charrette

Held at the end of “zero week” just prior to the start of Fall term, students engage in a 48-hour policy or management charrette on a problem that faces nonprofit professionals. This project is intended to simulate the real-world environment where nonprofit executives are given short time frames to research and respond appropriately to a topic that is new to them. Over 48 hours, students, working in groups, will read relevant documents, write a memo detailing the evidence base and key issues, and give an oral presentation. Incoming first year students will have the opportunity to view the presentations as part of their orientation to the program. This component of the curriculum is a signature event and rite of passage each fall.

Also take internship, electives, or management sequence credits.

Second Year, Winter Term

Continue taking Board Governance

PPPM 610, Research Skills

This class introduces research methods that you'll be utilizing for the Nonprofit Management Consultancy.

Also take internship, electives, or management sequence credits.

Second Year, Spring Term

PPPM 688, Nonprofit Management Consultancy

In teams, students complete administrative projects on behalf of regional nonprofit organizations. Topics vary according to the nonprofit organizations who apply for assistance each year.

Continue taking Board Governance, and take electives or management sequence courses.

Core Course Policies

- All core classes must be taken for a letter grade, with the exception of Grant Proposal Writing.
- Students must earn an average GPA of 3.0 in the nine core courses. The GPA is computed as weighted average based on each course's credit hours.
- If a student has taken a core course (or its equivalent) prior to entering the MNM program, a more advanced course in that area or a complementary course approved by the instructor and the MNM director may be substituted. The course substitution form is available on the department website.
- For students who graduated from the PPPM undergraduate program, the policy on taking PPPM 581, 586, and 681 are as follows: if grade of “A-” or higher was earned in the undergraduate version of the course, a higher level or complementary course should be taken instead of the MNM core course. If a “B” or higher was earned in the undergraduate course, the student has the option of taking a higher level or complementary course or taking the MNM core course. Finally, for grades below a “B,” the MNM core course should be taken.

MNM Fields of Interest

Students develop a substantive area of expertise by taking a minimum of 20 credits of coursework in a field of interest. The MNM offers flexible but suggested curricula for fields such as those listed below. You may design your own field of interest (most students do), or choose from one of the following options, but the final list must be in consultation with your faculty advisor. See the “MNM Fields of Interest” list in Appendix V for sample courses within each topic area.

Marketing and Development: For students wanting to work in development (fundraising) or advancement. Career options in this field are excellent and well-remunerated.

Social Entrepreneurship: For students seeking closer links to social enterprise and social good businesses, or focused on developing fee-based commercial enterprise within nonprofit organizations.

Equity/Social Justice: For students pursuing careers specifically in advocacy organizations with a social change focus.

Policy: For students entering fields where public advocacy and influencing government and legislative decision-making is critical.

Environmental Sustainability: For students pursuing careers in the environmental nonprofit or NGO sector.

Arts & Cultural Leadership: For students specifically interested in a career in administration of arts and cultural organizations. This is undergoing university approval to become a formal graduate certificate, allowing you to obtain both the MNM and the Graduate Certificate in Arts Management degrees without extra coursework added to your two years of study.

International Development: For students seeking or continuing careers with INGOs, humanitarian organizations, and aid to developing countries.

Education and Social Services: For students interested in private educational institutions, health-related nonprofit agencies, or any social service organization including those devoted to children, teens, substance abuse, housing, and so on.

Public Relations & Advocacy: For students headed for careers in organizations that seek to inform, persuade, and change behaviors of the public.

Food Studies: Complete the Graduate Specialization in Food Studies, which offers an interdisciplinary slate of courses on local and global food systems and food justice.

Planning and Community Development: For students pursuing careers in philanthropy (grant making), and urban and rural economic development.
University of Oregon has a wealth of graduate-level courses across campus for MNM students to design an interdisciplinary concentration. The availability of courses for your field of interest depends on the host department, so you should inquire about access to certain courses if they are offered outside the PPPM department. Students develop their own field of interest in consultation with a PPPM faculty advisor; we encourage you to craft a field of interest that suits your particular career goals.

Field of Interest Elective Course Policies

- Field of interest elective courses may be taken either for a grade or pass/fail. A grade of “B-” or better is required of graduate students to pass a course under the pass/fail option.
- There are many courses outside of the PPPM School that are relevant to nonprofit management. There is no limit on how many can be taken for the field of interest. See the UO listing of classes (“class schedule”) for a list of courses routinely offered in other departments.
- Finding courses in other departments ahead of time may seem daunting, because you don’t know what term a course will be offered. Here is how to obtain an advance preview of other departments’ draft class schedules: go to http://classes.uoregon.edu and select the current term. In the URL at the top of the screen, change the number to the next digit. If it says “201902”, change it to “201903”, for example. You’ll see the courses planned (but still in draft stage) for that next term.
- If you are unable to register for a course in another department (it might be closed to non-majors), email the instructor to inquire about taking it. If that instructor says no, there might be an important reason – you don’t have the prerequisites, for example. If not, email your faculty advisor in PPPM to see if he or she might lend a hand in advocating on your behalf. Usually other faculty members accommodate our students out of professional courtesy, because so many external graduate students from outside PPPM take PPPM courses.
- In addition to being able to take classes in other departments, UO students may take classes at other universities in Oregon (OSU, PSU) and transfer those credits to UO. Information on how to transfer those credits is available at the UO Office of the Registrar.

Internships & Professional Development

There are two components of the MNM internship requirement. The first is enrollment in the Professional Development course (1 credit, PPPM 623). Students begin the course starting orientation week and continue through fall term of their first year. Through this course students identify their career goals and develop a plan to prepare themselves to meet the goals. Students identify summer internship and post-graduation fellowship opportunities, and develop polished resume and cover letters.

The second component is completion of an internship. Internships offer students opportunities to explore and clarify career goals, apply academic learning, enhance and learn new skills, gain experience, and network with professionals. Unlike jobs, internships are supervised training experiences with the explicit intent of developing skills. Internships are highly recommended for all MNM students, and required for those with fewer than two years of relevant professional experience. Students enroll in 3 or more pass/fail credits of PPPM 604 Internship. In collaboration with the internship site supervisor and the Internship Director, students identify learning goals and outline specific tasks and responsibilities that support these goals. By achieving their learning goals, students acquire a set of transferable skills and real-world experiences that prepare them for professional positions, fellowships, or further academic study. Gaining relevant professional experience beyond the 3 credits is highly recommended. Students may do so either for credit or not for credit. For more information on the Internship Program see the PPPM School website.

Internship Policies

- Three credits of internship is equivalent to 90 hours of work in an internship placement.
- A maximum of 10 internship credits may be taken. Credits beyond the required 3 will count as elective credits.
- If a student has two or more years of related professional experience, the internship requirement may be waived. In lieu of the internship, 3 additional credits of elective courses should be taken.

Management Sequence and Nonprofit Consultancy Project:

MNM students complete the Management Sequence, which involves specialized coursework in management topics. Students also complete the Nonprofit Management Consultancy course. Courses listed below may be used as electives for your field of interest, but cannot double count.

Management Sequence (16 credits)

12 credits from the following*:

- PPPM 565 Program Evaluation 4 credits
- PPPM 507 Advocacy/Lobbying Seminar 2 credits
- PPPM 507 Public Sector Leadership 2 credits
- PPPM 507 Volunteer Management 2 credits
- PPPM 507 Strategic Communications 4 credits
- PPPM 587 Impact Philanthropy 4 credits
- PPPM 525 Project Management 4 credits
- PPPM 633 Public Management 4 credits
- PPPM 548 Collaboration 4 credits
- PPPM 552 Public Participation Diverse Communities 4 credits
- PPPM 685 Social Enterprise 4 credits
- PPPM 625 and 626 Community Planning Workshop 10 credits total
- CRES 610 Nonprofit Law/Management Clinic 4 credits total
- CRES 631 Managing Conflict in Organizations 4 credits
- AAD 510 Museum Practice (Fall 2018 only) 4 credits
- AAD 520 Event Management 4 credits
- AAD 551 Community Cultural Development/Creative Placemaking 4 credits
- AAD 572 Performing Arts Management 4 credits
- AAD 612 Cultural Administration 4 credits
- MGMT 623 Negotiation 3 credits
- MGMT 625 New Venture Planning 3 credits

Plus:
- PPPM 688 Nonprofit Management Consultancy (required) 4 credits

*Other courses may be approved for Management Sequence credit on an individual basis – there are many options, too numerous to list here. If you find a course elsewhere on campus through another department, check with your MNM faculty advisor to determine if that course will count as a management sequence course. Generally, any course with contents that directly relate to the administration of nonprofit organizations will be approved for the MNM management sequence. For example, Community Planning Workshop (PPPM 625+626) will work if your team is completing a project on behalf of a nonprofit agency, or a government project that has a substantive impact on the nonprofit sector.

PPPM 688 Nonprofit Management Consultancy Policies

- The Nonprofit Management Consultancy course provides a culminating experience for the program. Prior to participation in the Nonprofit Management Consultancy, a majority of the required core course credits and Management Sequence course credits must be completed.
- Concurrent (dual) degree students may substitute a required thesis in their other department in lieu of the Nonprofit Management Consultancy course. In this case, the student’s thesis must be approved by the MNM faculty to be relevant to the MNM degree.

Concurrent Degrees

MNM students may complete concurrent degrees with another graduate program in PPPM or elsewhere on campus. Programs of interest may include (but are not limited to) Law, Business, Conflict and Dispute Resolution, International Studies, Environmental Studies, Sociology and Political Science.

A concurrent MNM/Master of Public Administration (MPA) degree may be of interest to some students. The MNM and MPA curricula are closely related but still distinct. Pursuing both degrees can provide an extremely strong background for work in both the nonprofit and public sectors. Because of the close relationship between the MNM and the MPA, the curriculum for this concurrent degree combination is carefully prescribed. It is detailed in Appendix III in the last page of this MNM Policy Handbook.

Concurrent Policies

- Students interested in a concurrent degree program must 1) apply to and be accepted in both programs separately, and 2) meet with faculty advisors in both programs to develop an academic plan. Usually concurrent degrees decrease the time it takes to complete two separate degrees by at least a year.
- An official Declaration of Concurrent Degree form must be completed, approved by both program directors and the graduate school.
- During the first week of your final term at UO, submit a Concurrent Program Plan form.
- The MNM program will accept the core courses of the second graduate degree as your field of interest credits for the MNM.
- You may complete your internship via another department, as long as you meet the minimum credit total threshold for the MNM degree.
- Students must be “in residence”, meaning that you are enrolled as an MNM major for at least one academic year.
- Concurrent degrees are only possible within the UO, and are not possible across other universities.
Policies for Students with Previous Nonprofit Coursework

If you join the MNM program while you are already a student in the UO Graduate Certificate in Nonprofit Management program:

All existing Certificate requirements that you have taken in the PPPM department so far can be credited towards your MNM degree. In addition, elective credits towards the Certificate that you have taken outside the department will be considered on a case-by-case basis as to whether they can apply towards the MNM degree. Meet with your MNM advisor to create an individualized degree program. However, keep in mind that you cannot earn both the Certificate and the MNM.

If you received the Graduate Certificate in Nonprofit Management from the UO at some time in the past:

The 13 credits of required core classes you completed for the Certificate, as well as any internship credits you completed, will count towards the MNM degree. In addition, elective courses you completed will be considered for inclusion in your MNM degree on a case-by-case basis. Meet with your MNM advisor to create an individualized degree program.

If you received training equivalent to the UO Graduate Certificate in Nonprofit Management from another university:

You may be able to waive up to 25 credits of MNM degree requirements if you have completed equivalent coursework elsewhere. Meet with your MNM advisor to create an individualized degree program.

Transferring Credits

Students may petition PPPM and the Graduate School to transfer up to 15 graduate credits from another graduate program if the credits: 1) are relevant to the MNM program, 2) were taken within seven years of the date of MNM graduation, 3) were not used towards a prior completed graduate degree, 4) were taken at an accredited university, and 5) earned a “B” or higher (or a Pass in a Pass/Fail course). The credit transfer form is available at the UO Graduate School Forms website. Please return the form to your faculty advisor.

Students should meet with their advisor to discuss how the credits will count towards the MNM degree (core or field of interest).

Student Advising

• When students start the program, they are each assigned a faculty advisor. Students are strongly encouraged to meet with their advisor in the first term of study and as needed throughout the year for answering questions related to program requirements, for advice on elective course selection, and to answer other curriculum matters.
• You are welcome to change your faculty advisor if another faculty member is a better fit. Please inform your new faculty advisor.
• In the spring of the first year, you are required to meet with your advisor for a mid-program review. Bring a copy of your Professional Development Plan (the one you completed in the Professional Development course) to your mid-program review. Your advisor reviews and discusses with you what degree requirements must be fulfilled prior to graduation.

Academic Calendar
- The academic calendar, with add and drop deadlines, can be found on the Registrar’s website.

Academic Standing
- Students have seven years to complete their MNM while maintaining continuous enrollment (summers excluded). Any credits taken earlier than seven years from graduation will expire and not be valid towards the MNM. Exceptions are (sometimes) made exclusively for military service and serious health conditions.
- Graduate students must convert a grade of Incomplete (“I”) into a passing grade within one calendar year of the term the course was taken. If there are extenuating circumstances, there is a process to petition the UO Graduate School for a removal of an incomplete that is longer lasting than one year.
- Grades below “C-” are not accepted for graduate credit but are computed in the grade point average (GPA). For pass/fail classes, a grade of pass must be equal to or better than a “B-.” A student may retake a class if a very low grade is earned, and the grades will be averaged.
- Students must maintain a 3.0 GPA to be in good standing and to graduate from a PPPM graduate program. At the end of the first year of classes (for full time students) or after completion of 36 credits (for part time students), a 3.0 cumulative GPA is required in order to continue in the graduate program. If in subsequent terms a student’s cumulative GPA drops below a 3.0, he or she is given one term to raise the cumulative GPA to at least the 3.0 level.
- Failing five credits (“F” in a graded class or “N” in a pass/fail class) is grounds for expulsion from the program.

Miscellaneous

Where to Go When You Have Questions

See your assigned faculty advisor (in Hendricks Hall) if you have a question about a course, your planned curriculum, and so on. Your faculty advisor serves as your academic advisor.

Graduate Employment (GE) Positions

- In the winter or spring of each academic year PPPM advertises its very limited number of GE positions for the following year. On occasion, additional PPPM GE positions will become available at other times of the year and notices will be emailed to all PPPM graduate students regarding these openings.
- Students have been very successful obtaining administrative GE positions elsewhere at the university. Current listings are available throughout the school year on the Graduate School’s webpage.

UO Graduate School Policies

The Graduate School is in Campbell Hall, located right across the Pioneer Mother pathway from Hendricks Hall.

- Waiver of Graduate School policies: petition forms can be found on the Graduate School website.
- Leave of absence: If you need to take a term or more off (during the academic year), apply with the Graduate School for a leave of absence. After your absence, you must then obtain permission from the Graduate School to re-register.

Graduation

- Students must apply for their degree by the second Friday of the term; see the UO Graduate School’s website. The UO Graduate School requires students to be registered for 3 credits or more (in any department) during the term in which they graduate!
- The PPPM graduation ceremony is quite formal, and is approximately one hour in length. It is held the day before the College of Design/University of Oregon commencement ceremonies, which are held the Monday following finals week in June.

Appendix II – The MNM with a field of interest in Arts & Cultural Leadership

Courses recommended for the field of interest in Arts & Cultural Leadership are listed in bold font. The field of interest in Arts & Cultural Leadership is under university review (Fall 2018) to become a formal Graduate Certificate in Arts Management. Below is a schedule for you to complete the MNM with this field of interest – talk with Prof. Patricia Dewey if you intend to do so.

Appendix III – The Concurrent MNM / MPA Program

The concurrent Master of Public Administration (MPA) / Master of Nonprofit Management (MNM) degree program requires 90 credits to complete. The MPA program is more prescribed in terms of timing of the courses (many courses have prerequisites), so plan early if you want to complete both degrees. The concurrent program requires that students complete the following requirements:

Other course (with MNM director approval)
Appendix IV – Independent Research Courses

We do not have an individual thesis/terminal project option for MNM degree because the professional skillsets required in the nonprofit sector overwhelmingly favors the hands-on projects for actual organizations that students complete in the MNM Nonprofit Management Consultancy course. Still, you might be drawn to a particular topic that is not already covered in an existing course on campus, so an individual project of a manageable scope – while not a thesis – may be preferred, given your particular career goals. Following are a two routes by which a student might pursue an individual project.

Route 1: You are familiar with a PPPM faculty member who has an interesting research project and might use some help with it. In that case, express your interest in the topic to the faculty member. If they are interested in working with you, you can work together to design a project that is sensible for both the faculty member’s research and for your skills and timing. You may or may not want to get academic credit for it.

Route 2 (rare): No faculty member in PPPM is doing research in your topic of interest. Inquire among the faculty (it helps to bring a 1-page summary with a list of readings that you’d like to do on your own). If you want academic credit for this work, you can ask a faculty member to supervise your independent research or readings course. It is up to the discretion of each faculty member whether they agree to supervise your project. Factors that will influence whether a faculty member agrees to oversee your project include the overlap of the topic with the faculty member’s area of expertise, the faculty member’s schedule, and the extent to which you can justify the project as an important part of your education (see more on this in “cautions” below).

Getting Elective Credit: If a faculty member has agreed to oversee your project, decide on an appropriate number of credits for your project and give it a short title. Fill out the PPPM Independent Study Authorization Form (ask your faculty advisor for it) and return the form to Tiffany Benefiel, who will then lift the registration barrier, allowing you to register for X credits of PPPM 601 Research or PPPM 605 Readings and Conference in (your short title).

For an independent study course, the list of readings is up to you; you design the syllabus (which means you design the research project), with the faculty member’s approval. Generally, a long paper is due at the end of the term. Faculty members will differ on the amount of supervision they will provide for an individual project. Some will want to meet frequently and others will not. Faculty will also differ on grading requirements.

Cautions:
1. There has to be a good epistemological reason why you are developing your own individual study project. It is not an option to get out of a scheduling difficulty.
2. The topic must be something not covered already in any course (any term) at UO.
3. Faculty are working very hard behind the scenes, do not have the capacity to supervise more than one or two individual projects, and may not be available to supervise your project.
4. An individual study project is never a replacement for the MPA Capstone or Nonprofit Management Consultancy courses.

The PPPM faculty has discussed this and would like to close with this thought: Bear in mind that an individual study or research project is never as good as a class – a class pushes you in unexpected directions which can widen your experience, and the verbal exchange of ideas in a class format enhances understanding (more so than just reading on your own).
Appendix V – MNM Field of Interest Sample Course Lists

MNM students complete a minimum of 20 elective credits in a field of interest. You may design your own field of interest (most students do, in consultation with your faculty advisor), or choose from the options below. Other departments’ courses change rapidly, so this list may not include courses of interest to you, or may include courses that are unavailable in the coming year. In case a non-PPPM course is closed, inquire with the course instructor to see if it is possible to join the course (contact your MNM faculty advisor if the instructor’s answer is no). Tips for finding courses in other departments are provided at the end of this document.

To find courses in other departments in future academic terms: Go to the University class schedule. Choose the current academic term. Choose the targeted department. In the URL, change the last digit to a later quarter. If it says “201902” for example, change it to “201903.” The farther you go out, the more “drafty” and unreliable the class schedule, as departments make changes before the schedule goes live during registration.

This list is continually updated with STUDENT INPUT: Did you find a course that is unavailable, or did you find a great course that is not already on the list? Let me know: Prof. Renee Irvin, rirvin@uoregon.edu.
