Join UOWGS for the 1st Virtual Science Slam!
June 18th, 2020
6:30-8:30pm

Science Slam is an opportunity for scientists to share thought-provoking science with the public through innovative presentations. These creative talks are less than 5 min each and are meant to engage everyone! Join us to present your work or be in the audience and vote to decide the winners! We would also like to invite your friends and family to join us at this event and we highly encourage everyone to dress up as their favorite scientists.

Moderated by: Sara Hodges

6-8 talks by graduate students and post docs

1st prize: $100
2nd Prize: $75
3rd Prize: $50
All participants: $25

Hosted by The University of Oregon Women in Graduate Science (UOWGS). WGS focuses on the professional development of women in all disciplines of science.
