PORTLAND PROGRAM CHECKLIST

Portland provides a unique opportunity for the study of urban architecture. Students must be in good academic standing and have completed the requirements listed below prior to changing campus locations.

Curriculum issues that need to be addressed prior to going to Portland:

(1) You are encouraged to complete your ARH series before heading to Portland.

(2) Intermediate and terminal studios, ARCH 4/571 (winter), and ARCH 4/517 (spring) are offered every year. The Structures and ECS sequences are offered every other year in Portland.

> Structures sequence - offered in the beginning of fall term of odd years
> ECS sequence - offered in the beginning fall term of even years

(3) The advanced building technology course requirement can be taken in Portland, it is typically offered for two credits during fall/winter terms and for two or four credits in spring.

(4) Subject Area Elective courses, including those that may fulfill the departmental architectural history requirements, are offered on a varying schedule.

(5) Limited GEs are available in PDX; typically there are two for the entire academic year.
