This 1-credit seminar is intended for individuals enrolled in the Architecture Foundation of Oregon’s Architects in Schools Program (AiS). The AiS program matches design professionals and students with Oregon teachers. Together, they create a unique and engaging experience that introduces third through fifth grade students to the basic principles of design over a six-week residency. The seminar provides students with a platform to receive support in planning their lessons, practice and prepare activities, and connect with other AiS participants. The class also offers opportunities for mentorship and networking within the local design community. AiS is a rewarding and energizing experience. It encourages creativity and helps participants look at design through a fresh lens.
