A Quick Note:

This lesson came about as a result of my participation in a 2007 Fulbright-Hays Summer Seminar Abroad trip to Egypt and Israel. A six week study tour that exposed me to more than I could have ever imagined and truly was life-changing. (for information on future seminars, please visit: http://www.ed.gov/programs/iegpssap/index.html)

My use of the information I learned and the experiences I had in both countries go far beyond this lesson. I often feel like it itself could comprise a year long course (at least). But, similar to most of you, I do not have the luxury of time in my classroom. For those of us who teach where World History is taught in one year and this one year course is the only mandatory global aspect of the high school social studies curriculum, we are unfortunately limited as to the number of days we can spend on this critical topic. In light of that fact, this lesson is designed to be completed in three to four days of regular classroom instruction (plus student homework time). However, as you know, adjusting the assignments, using the additional resources and/or information in the notes section, this time frame can also be adjusted to suit your specific needs.

If you have any questions or suggestions, please feel free to contact me at marylynnefillmon@gmail.com

“Growing up, Dalia would frequently ask her parents and teachers: “What are these houses we are living in?”

“These are Arab houses,” she was told.

“What are these Arab houses that everyone talks about?” she would reply.

Dalia’s school was in an Arab house, and there she would learn Israel’s history. She learned about the creation of the state of Israel as a safe haven for the Jews. She studied the War of Independence as the story of the few against the many. The Arabs had invaded, Dalia would read, in order to destroy the new state and throw the Jews into the sea. Most nations confronted with such hostilities would have been paralyzed, but tiny Israel had withstood five Arab armies. Little David had defeated Goliath. As for the Arabs, Dalia’s textbooks would report that they ran away, deserting their lands and abandoning their homes, fleeing before the conquering Israeli army. The Arabs, one textbook of the day declared, “Preferred to leave” once the Jews had taken their towns. Dalia accepted the history she was taught. Still, she was confused. Why, she wondered, would anyone leave so willingly?”

--Excerpt from: The Lemon Tree by Sandy Tolan, page 115
“We were exiled by force of arms. We were exiled on foot. We were exiled to take the earth as our bed. And the sky as a cover. And to be fed from the crumbs of those among the governments and international organizations who imparted their charity. We were exiled but we left our souls, our hopes and our childhood in Palestine. We left our joys and sorrows. We left them in every corner, and on every grain of sand in Palestine. We left them with each lemon fruit, with each olive. We left them in the roses and flowers. We left them in the flowering tree that stands with pride at the entrance of our house in al-Ramla. We left them in the remains of our fathers and ancestors. We left them as witnesses and history. We left them, hoping to return.”

- Ancestors have been living in area nearly 2000 years
- Jerusalem home to 3rd most important Muslim site-Dome of the Rock/Al-Aqsa Mosque
Reflection

Write for three minutes about BOTH of the following questions.

- If you were Israeli, why might you think you should live on the land that is now Israel?
- If you were Palestinian, why might you think you should live on the land that is now Israel?
UN Plan for Palestine (1947)

- Partition (separate) the area into 2 countries
- Israel (Jewish State) and Palestine (Arab State)
- 55% of land goes to the Jews
- 45% of land goes to the Arabs
- Total Population: 1.8 million
  - 1.2 million Arabs living in area
  - 600,000 Jews living in area
- Jerusalem: “international city” controlled by UN
- Accepted by Jews
- Rejected by Arabs
- No Arab on committee
1948 War

- May 14, 1948: Israel is officially formed
- May 15, 1948: Israel attacked by six Arab nations
- Approx. 750,000 Palestinians fled or were forced to leave
- Over approx. 800,000 Jews in Arab countries also fled or were forced to leave for Israel
- Israel After War: Jordan controls West Bank and Egypt controls Gaza Strip
- Israel takes much of Palestine and western part of Jerusalem—eastern part including religious sites taken by Jordan

- If you were Israeli, how might you feel about the creation of the state of Israel and the war that began the next day?
- If you were Palestinian, how might you feel about the creation of the state of Israel and the war that began the next day?
1956 Suez Canal Crisis

- Egypt nationalizes the Suez Canal in 1956 and closed the Straits of Tiran to Israel, which blocked Israeli access to the Red Sea.
- Israel attacks Egypt with later reinforcements from France and the United Kingdom.
- Ceasefire agreement and withdrawal of Israeli troops.
- United Nations Peacekeepers sent to maintain peace in the area.
1967 War

- Israel believes neighbors are preparing for war
  - Egypt requests withdrawal of UN in May 1967 and denies Israel access to the Red Sea by closing Straits of Tiran
  - Jordan and Egypt sign mutual defense agreement
  - Continued terrorist attacks from Syria’s Golan Heights region
- Israeli surprise attack against Egypt on June 5, 1967
  - Also attacks Syria, Jordan
  - Within six days Israel defeats Egypt, Syria, Jordan
    - Takes control of West Bank, Gaza Strip
    - Control of all of Jerusalem
    - Control of Sinai (from Egypt)
    - Control of Golan Heights (from Syria)

The Camp David Accords

1977: Egypt (led by Anwar Sadat) engages Israel in peace efforts

1978: Camp David Accords
- U.S. President Carter invites Sadat and Israeli Prime Minister Begin to Camp David
- Egypt recognizes Israel as a country
- Israel gives Sinai peninsula back to Egypt
- First agreement between Israel and an Arab nation

The Intifada

- Palestinian uprising against Israeli occupation, living conditions, and to demand independence that begins in 1987.
  - Includes Palestinian demonstrations, strikes, boycotts, rock throwing and gasoline bombs.
- Israeli military response
- Over approx. 400 Israelis Killed
- Over approx. 1500 Palestinians Killed
Peace Efforts Continued

- During the 1990’s several advances towards peace were made with several meetings taking place in places such as Egypt, Spain, the United States, and Norway.
  - 1993 Oslo Accords: Palestinian Leader Yasser Arafat and Israel’s Prime Minister Yitzhak Rabin met to begin to work out a peace deal that included each side recognizing the right of the other to exist.
- Rabin assassinated by Jewish extremist in November of 1995
Second Intifada

- By 2000, peace process has faded.
- In 2000, Israeli political figure Ariel Sharon visits Temple Mount (Western Wall area and Al Aqsa Mosque area) in Jerusalem
- Palestinian violence erupts beginning the Second Intifada
- Buses, discos, hotels, fast food restaurants, etc in Israel blown up by Palestinian suicide bombers
- Israel responds militarily
- From 2000-June 2008
  - Over 4500 Palestinians killed
  - Over 1000 Israelis killed

The Gaza Strip

- In 2005, Israel removed its settlements from the Gaza Strip and gave much control of the area to the Palestinian government (with exceptions such as the border, airspace, coastline).
- Gaza later comes under the control of Hamas, a group considered by Israel and other countries to be a terrorist organization.
- As of June 2008, Hamas and Israel have entered into a cease fire agreement.

Current Issue: Movement

Israeli Perspective

- Palestinians need permission to leave West Bank. Israelis see this as needed security to prevent terrorism.

Palestinian Perspective

- The restriction on movement limits jobs, health care, education, etc. contributing to standard of living in West Bank being significantly less than that of Israel.
Terrorist organizations like Hamas (which controls the Gaza Strip) and Hezbollah (based in Lebanon and who was at war with Israel in the summer of 2006) continue to fire rockets into Israel. Individuals also continue to commit other acts of terror.

Can’t stereotype all Palestinians as terrorists as the majority are not terrorists.

Palestinian government denounced terrorism.

Using your notes from the power point as well as your reflection writings, choose one of the following assignments to complete.

1) Imagine that you are a cartographer working for an European textbook company. Create a series of three maps that portray the Israeli-Palestinian Conflict in the following years: 1947 (Partition Plan), 1949, and 1968. Be sure that your maps show all the countries and territories involved!

2) Imagine that you have been asked to write a short article to be included in an upcoming issue of Geography for Kids about how the lines that comprise maps can sometimes change. You have decided to use the Israeli-Palestinian conflict as your example. Compose an article consisting of at least three paragraphs on how the borders of the countries and territories involved have changed from the UN Partition Plan to the present day.
Pretend that you are a teenager living in Israel. You have been asked to write an article for a magazine that is published for Palestinian teenagers about your view of the Israeli-Palestinian conflict. As this is written for teens, please be sure to put the information in YOUR OWN WORDS. Your article should be at least three paragraphs and include the following:

- Claims to the land
- The various wars and intifadas
- The various peace efforts
- Current issues
- A creative title for your article

Assignment Part IV: Teens Working Towards Peace

Choose ONE of the following 3 options:

- Using another sheet of paper, create a miniposter with at least four images of things that you think Israeli and Palestinian teenagers can do to help create peace in their part of the world. Be sure to write captions for your images and come up with a creative title!

- In a group of no more than 4 create a 3-5 minute skit or documentary about ways teens can help create peace in their part of the world. (Hint: Do some online research to find out about organizations that try to assist this!)

- Create a three-panel brochure complete with at least 3 paragraphs of text and three images about a real or fictional organization that aims to bring teens together to help create peace in this part of the world. (Hint: Do some online research to find out about organizations that try to assist this!)
