American Society of Mechanical Engineers

Professional & Personal Development

Develop technical and collaborative skills and learn about applications of engineering in industry and academia through workshops and projects. Leadership positions available!

Complex, Scalable Projects

Gain indispensable engineering experience outside the classroom with diversity of project leadership opportunities. Projects are scalable to student availability!

Network Building

Learn and make connections with industry and academic leaders to help inform personal career goals. Collect advice and build your professional network.

We Want You If You...

- Are interested in the applications of engineering.
- Are interested in gaining experience with projects in leadership positions.
- Have any project ideas you want to pursue with a group of motivated engineering students.

sites.northwestern.edu/asme

facebook.com/nuasme

northwesternasme@gmail.com