Richard Parker
Columbia University

Sexual Matters,
the Politics of HIV and AIDS, and the Invention of Global Health

Thursday, March 29 • 5:30pm • reception to follow
John Evans Alumni Center • Northwestern University, Evanston

Richard Parker is Professor of Sociomedical Sciences and Anthropology at Columbia University, where he also directs the Center for the Study of Culture, Politics and Public Health. He is also the Director and President of the Brazilian Interdisciplinary AIDS Association (ABIA), one of the leading non-governmental AIDS organizations in Brazil, as well as the founder and current Co-Chair of Sexuality Policy Watch. He is the founding Editor-in-Chief for the journal Global Public Health.

Keynote address for the workshop Libidinal Investments: Emerging Scholarship on Sexuality and the Social.

For more information go to:
http://www.sexualities.northwestern.edu.

March 29-30, 2012 • Northwestern University

Presented by the Sexualities Project at Northwestern (SPAN). Co-sponsored by Global Health Studies and the Department of Anthropology.