

Christopher Hatton '89
Director of Foreign Exchange
Credit Suisse AG

Christopher Hatton is a Director of Foreign Exchange trading at Credit Suisse AG. Mr. Hatton is a recognized leader in the foreign exchange market and brings over 25 years experience in trading foreign exchange, swaps and derivatives. Mr. Hatton joined Credit Suisse in 2010 and is responsible for overseeing the global Asian emerging market currency trading team of 15 professionals across 8 countries. Prior to his tenure at Credit Suisse, he worked at several international banks including Chase, Deutsche Bank and HSBC. He serves on numerous industry committees including the NDF Dealer Panel, The LCH Default Management Group and the Federal Reserve Derivative Clearing Panel. He serves on the Director and Vice President promotion committees at Credit Suisse and is also on the Providence Alumni committee within Credit Suisse.

Mr. Hatton holds a BA in Economics from Providence College. He has been a strong supporter of many charity initiatives including NY Cares and Habitat for Humanity. His personal journey with Prostate Cancer inspired him to lend support to the Movember foundation, for which he has placed first in the United States for small team fundraising and consistently achieved recognition for personal fundraising. Married with three children, Mr. Hatton is an active community participant as a catechist for St. Catherine of Siena in Mountain Lakes and as a coach of children's soccer, basketball and baseball.
