PREFACE

This volume is the second of an eight volume set of documented descendants of Lieutenant Nicholas Stillwell. I continue to struggle with identifying the point at which a given family line switched to the use of three "L" version of the surname and in some cases when the descendants of a given line switched back to the four "L" version. The difficulty continues to be with documenting consistent usage. "Gray areas" persist in which clarity is not readily apparent. Errors have most likely been made in this regard. I hope that these errors will be minimal in number.

I again express my deepest appreciation to those who generously shared their research with me and also to my wife, Barbara, and son, Andrew, for their encouragement and support over the past years.

“I was born in Gorgas Hospital, Ancon, on July 4, 1943. My father was a US Army lieutenant who was part of the West Virginia National Guard's 150th Infantry, which was called up and sent to guard the canal against invasion in 1941. My mother, Norma Stillwell Martin, was born in 1919 in the Canal Zone and graduated from Balboa HS in 1937. Her father, Ellis Stillwell, from Alexandria, South Dakota, went to the Canal Zone in 1911, straight out of the engineering school at the University of Wisconsin. He eventually went on to become engineering superintendent of the locks, and retired with my grandmother, Elizabeth Phelps Stillwell, to Monrovia, California in 1946.

In 1986, while working as a radio personality in Philadelphia, I hosted a Panama Canal cruise on the Cunard Princess, and my wife and I brought my mother with us, her (and my) first visit to the CZ since she left in 1947. Libby Scudder was working as a nurse at Presbyterian Hospital in New York City when she met her future husband in 1944 at an officers' club dance. "I cut in on her when she was dancing with someone else, and we went on waltzing," Richard Scudder said. "We used to go to all these dances around New York, and whenever we came into the room, the bands used to start playing a waltz for us." They married a few months later, shortly before Scudder went overseas to fight in World War II. When he returned, he and his brother, Edward, assumed leadership of The Newark News, the evening newspaper founded in 1883 by their grandfather, Wallace Scudder.

from what her husband called "dreadful homes." Often, she brought them to visit the Scudder s' elegant estate. "I remember one time Libby brought home this disheveled kid and her friend," Richard Scudder recalled, "and Libby had some place she had to go. So she said to the kids, 'The house is yours; there's the refrigerator. Make yourselves at home.'" Dumbfounded, the girls watched her leave. "That's the first time anyone's ever trusted me," one of them confided to Richard Scudder.

As a dedicated member of the Community YMCA of Red Bank, Libby Scudder set up Libby's Kids, a facility where preteens and teenagers could work on computers, play pool, exercise and socialize as an alternative to malls and street corners. "They called her their 'Other Mom,' and she put so many kids on their way," her husband said. "One of those kids is head nurse in an operating room around here, and another one was voted Person Who did The Most For Others at Indiana University. Another is a sergeant in the Marines. One told me on the phone today that Libby taught her what love is. She made a difference in a lot of lives.

He married Mary Gindhart [37645].

Notes For Mary Gindhart

"Mary Gindhart Herbert Roebing was born in West Collingswood, New Jersey, on July 29, 1905. She was the eldest of four siblings, (Mary, John, Floyd and Margaret), born to Isaac Dare Gindhart, Jr. and Mary W. (Simon) Gindhart. Her father was the President of Keystone & Eastern Telephone Company, while her mother was a pianist and vocalist, who introduced the public school system to the sight reading of music. Mary's first introduction to the world of business began with her father, whom she accompanied to various civic and business functions that her mother was unable to attend.

In 1921, at the age of sixteen, Mary married a young soldier named Arthur Herbert, nephew of the American conductor and composer, Victor Herbert. She and Arthur had a daughter named Elizabeth in 1922, but their marriage was cut short when Arthur died of blood poisoning in 1924. After the death of her husband, Roebing moved in with her parents and joined a Philadelphia brokerage house as a secretary. She studied merchandising and business administration at the Wharton School, University of Pennsylvania, at night because women were not admitted to classes during the day. Promoted to "customer's woman," she became a financial advisor to Siegfried Roebing, grandson of Colonel Washington Roebing, the builder of the Brooklyn Bridge.

Siegfried ran one of the family's businesses, the Trenton Trust Company. He and Mary married in 1931 and had a son, Paul, in 1934. Another tragedy befell Mary, however, when her second husband, Siegfried, died suddenly in 1936.

Banking Career

As executor of her husband's estate, Mary Roebing was urged by her father-in-law, John A. Roebing, to become President of the Trenton Trust Company. The tragedy of the loss of her husband marks the beginning of her career as a banker, as she became the first woman to serve as President of a major commercial bank, and four years later began serving in the dual capacity of President and Chairman of the Board, also a first for a woman... Roebing brought a particularly feminine touch to the operation of her bank: she was the first banker to hold "financial teas" to introduce wealthy women to the advantages of trust funds; she distributed umbrellas when it was raining, leant her board rooms for women's club meetings, and sponsored art shows and displays of customers' merchandise...

In 1972, when the Trenton Trust Company merged with the National State Bank in Elizabeth, New Jersey, Roebing was elected Chairman of the Board for the combined institution, in which capacity she served until her retirement in 1984. As Chairman Emeritus, Roebing continued to solicit business and promote the interests of the bank. Roebing's personal and business lives were closely connected. As a friend recalled, "You must understand that when she was entertaining she was also working for the bank. Her personal life and her business life were the same." Although disabled by a stroke in later years, she remained active until her death from renal failure on October 25, 1994.

Government Service

Throughout her life, Mary Roebing served the government at the national, state and local levels. Franklin D. Roosevelt appointed her to the committee working on the China Relief Bill, she served on the board of the International Rescue Committee, and she attended the White House Conference on the Refugee Problem. Her outspoken views on the place of women in society won her an appointment to the Citizens Advisory Council to the Commission on the Status of Women in 1963. President Reagan appointed her to the Task Force on International Private Enterprise, which recommended ways to strengthen private enterprise in the developing world. She also served on the National Business Council on Consumer Affairs and the Regional Advisory Committee for Banking Policies and Practices.

On the state level, Roebing was the first woman member of the New Jersey State Unemployment Compensation Commission, the first woman to serve as Economic Ambassador of the State of New Jersey and the first woman member of the Interstate Commission on the Delaware River Basin. In addition, in 1950, Governor Alfred E. Driscoll appointed her to the New Jersey State Investment Council, where she served under five governors. Roebing also served on the New Jersey Small Business Advisory Council from 1966 to 1968, and on the Citizens Advisory Committee for the New Jersey State Museum from 1963 to 1968. Locally, Roebing served as Chairman and Comptroller of the Trenton Parking Authority and as a member of the Mercer County Improvement Authority.

Mary Roebing was an active and committed member of the Republican Party. She corresponded with many past presidents and their families, including Richard Nixon, Gerald Ford, Jimmy Carter, Ronald Reagan and George Bush. Her service as a delegate for Nixon in the 1960 presidential election and her lifelong correspondence with him and his family, prove her unwavering support for this controversial president. Nevertheless, Roebing occasionally gave money to the Democratic Party, if she supported a particular candidate. She was on cordial terms with Democratic politicians, and cooperated with them on activities such as the annual dinner honoring the memory of former New York governor Alfred E. Smith.

Military Service

Mary Roebing's greatest area of government service was in her work for the military. Throughout her life, Roebing was an advocate of a strong military, supporting universal military training: "The military is a service that all citizens men or women should render to their country." Her lifetime of service to the military began when President Harry S. Truman made her the only woman member of the Citizens Advisory Committee on Armed Forces Training Installations in 1950. In this capacity, Roebing traveled throughout the country visiting military bases, interviewing soldiers and reporting on conditions. In 1951, she was appointed to the Defense Advisory Committee on Women in the Services (DACOWITS), where she served on the Recruiting and Public Information Subcommittee. Between 1951 and 1953, Roebing visited bases, arranged events, and promoted the introduction of a postage stamp honoring women's contribution to national defense. Remaining on DACOWITS as an Emeritus Member, Roebing continued to be concerned with the position of women in the military and with publicizing the military services to make them attractive to women. Among other ventures, she funded a scholarship for top women Reserve Officer Training Corps (ROTC) graduates.

In 1959, Roebing went to London as one of one hundred American delegates to the Congress of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization (NATO), the purpose of which was to enlarge the activities and increase understanding of the organization. Her prestigious career of service to the military continued in 1971, when she was appointed Civilian Aide to the Secretary of the Army for New Jersey, which was extended to the First Army Area in 1983; Roebing served until 1987, when she was made Civilian Aide Emeritus. In her role as Civilian Aide, Roebing sponsored events, made speeches, and advised the Secretary of the Army on publicity, using the skills in public relations which she had honed at the Trenton Trust Company. Concurrently, Roebing served on the Advisory Board of the Association of the United States Army, where, as a member of the Expanding Education Fund Committee (established in 1980), she worked to educate the public about the military. She was also Founding President of the Army War College Foundation, a trustee of the Naval War College Foundation, a Life Member of the National Defense Transportation Association and a member of the American Legion Auxiliary. Through her work with the military, Roebing developed friendships with military figures such as General Howard Louderback of the U.S. Army Reserve, and General Rocco Negriz, Commandant of Fort Dix in Wrightstown, New Jersey, where a room was named after Roebing.

Awards

Roebing's dedication to the military is revealed in the many prestigious awards she received, including the President's Medal from the Association of the United States Army, the Distinguished Service Award from the Marine Corps League, and the Outstanding Civilian Service Medal from the Department of Defense (1984). Roebing also received many international awards, including the Commendatore of the Order of the Star of Solidarity from the President of Italy and the Israel Freedom Medal. In New Jersey, she was awarded a Brotherhood Award from the New Jersey Conference of Christians and Jews in 1956, in recognition of her years-long activities in brotherhood and human rights, ..." Notes for Mary Ruth Elison

Misc: Her obituary follows:

“Oakley - Mary Ruth Woodhouse, a 91-year-old resident of Oakley, died Thursday, March 16, 2006, in Sandy, Utah, of a stroke.

She was born January. 3, 1915, in Oakley, Idaho, the daughter of Frederick Samuel and Gertrude Halverson Elison. She attended Oakley Grade School and graduated from Oakley High School. She married Trafford Varley Woodhouse on December. 9, 1933. Their marriage was later solemnized in the Idaho Falls LDS Temple on March 3, 1966. Following their marriage, they were engaged in farming in the Oakley Valley.

As a member of the LDS Church, she served in the Primary and Relief Society. She and her husband, Trafford, served as temple workers in the Logan Temple for three years. They were also honored pioneers of Oakley, a tribute to the Oakley Valley Heritage.

Ruth enjoyed many forms of entertainment: dancing, traveling, attending plays, and music. She was a marvelous cook! No one could make bread and candy like she did. Her home was always open, and everyone enjoyed their visits. Her whit will truly be missed but her memories will be with us forever.

For the past four and one-half years, Ruth has resided in Orem and Sandy, Utah, where she has lived with her daughter, Karen Greene.

She is survived by her three sons, J. Allen "Duff" (Renaë) Woodhouse of Oakley, Trafford Kent (Diane) Woodhouse of Burley, and Frederick Kirk (Ann) Woodhouse of Oakley; one daughter, Karen (Harold) Greene of Sandy, Utah; three brothers, Glen (Charlotte) Elison of Oakley, Jim (Sally) Elison of Bakersfield, California, and Jerry (Barbara) Elison of Orem, Utah; one sister, Ina Lou (Wayne) Cheney of Weiser, Idaho; 12 grandchildren; and 31 great-grandchildren, who were a joy and whom she loved and adored beyond measure.

She was preceded in death by her parents; her husband, Trafford; and two brothers, Sam and Jay Elison.

The funeral will be held at 11 a.m. Tuesday, March 21, 2006, at the Oakley LDS Stake Center, 301 N. Center Ave., with Bishop Randy Hardy officiating. Burial will be in Marion Cemetery.

When he was liberated, Stuart was emaciated and weighed just 120 pounds. Nevertheless, he attacked the Japanese guard that had been taunting him for so long, nearly choking the man to death. A US Marine pulled Stewart off, saving the Japanese soldier's life. As a boy, I witnessed the bayonet scars on Stuart's stomach.

Stuart was a radioman on a PT Boat. When Mac Arthur left the Philippines, Stuart's boat was initially involved as an escort, but returned to Corregidor, where the boat was transported to a mountain lake for further service. It was eventually blown up to avoid falling into the hands of the Japanese.

Stuart held Mac Arthur in low esteem, because the General allowed his wife to bring large trunks of belongings aboard the PT Boats, taking critical space that could have been used by several men to escape capture by the Japanese.

Stuart died 11 July 1983. A full military funeral was held 14 July. I was the New Jersey Air National Guard bugler. At the close of the church service, the old call Tattoo was sounded, the minister first announcing at my request that a gallant warrior would now be given one last call to quarters. In the cemetery, I sounded Taps after the traditional three rifle volleys, which were provided by the Army. The Navy served as poll bearers. Thus, all three services were represented in uniform. Notes for Gregory Clement

Misc: Gregory's obituary follows:

“Gregory Clement Jr.
Weston Resident, WWII Veteran

Gregory Clement, Jr. was born on June 15, 1914, in Chestnut Hill, Philadelphia, PA, the eldest of four children. He was in the class of 1933 at Germantown Academy, and he graduated in 1937 from Cornell University, where he was an avid athlete in football and track. Following college, he graduated from Officer Candidate School in Annapolis, MD and was a First Lieutenant on the USS Niagara, serving in WWII in the South Pacific.

Along with his love for John Phillip Sousa and the Cornell University marching band, one of his lifelong passions was horticulture. In his twenties, he worked for the Burpee Seed Company in California; one of his proudest accomplishments while there was discovering the odorless marigold. He especially loved holly trees and left a trail of them wherever he lived.

Mr. Clement spent more than 10 years with Alcoa and was instrumental in the discovery of the aluminum conductor for the light bulb. Since 1962, he was happily self-employed, running his own company, Lug Lok Associates, based on a specialty part for the aircraft industry that he invented and engineered. Up until the time of his death, he was proudly serving major clients such as Pratt & Whitney and Northrop Grumman Corporation. Pratt & Whitney recently honored him with a lifetime achievement award. In addition, for 20 years he was a leading sales representative for Rex Marine of Norwalk, CT, specializing in luxury yachts.
