Analyzing Parts of a Story in Relation to the Whole	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li><input type="checkbox"/> When asked to talk about the importance of a part in a story, I thought about how that part fits into the sequence of events. I could talk about what came before and what came after.</li> <li><input type="checkbox"/> When asked, I could note if a problem was introduced in the beginning of the story and then I could check to see whether that problem was solved near the end of the story.</li> </ul> 	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li><input type="checkbox"/> When asked to talk about the importance of a part of the story to the whole story, I named the part or story element (the problem, the setting).</li> <li><input type="checkbox"/> I wrote to explain how this part is important to the whole story. If it is the setting, for example, I thought "How is this particular setting important to the story?"</li> </ul> 	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li><input type="checkbox"/> When asked to talk about the importance of a part of the story to the whole story, I named one part or aspect of a story—an event, setting, minor character.</li> <li><input type="checkbox"/> I wrote about the importance of the part to the whole story. If it is the setting, for example, I thought "How does this particular setting create a mood or explain the tension in the story?"</li> </ul>
Determining Themes/ Cohesion	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li><input type="checkbox"/> If I was asked to talk about a life lesson the character learned, I either retold a part of the story or I said my own ideas about what I learned from the story or felt about it.</li> </ul> 	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li><input type="checkbox"/> I wrote about a life lesson that the character learned.</li> <li><input type="checkbox"/> I wrote about how a part of the story showed this lesson.</li> </ul> 	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li><input type="checkbox"/> I wrote about a theme that comes through across most of the story.</li> <li><input type="checkbox"/> I provided details from across the text that support that theme.</li> <li><input type="checkbox"/> I explained how those parts from across the story show this theme.</li> </ul>
