Healthy Campus Network Fellowship 2021-22

The 2021-22 fellowship program is seeking a UCSC student to support the Healthy Campus Network’s ongoing work to strengthen health equity across UC. The Fellows, one from each campus, will support the HCN commitment to periodically review the strengths and gaps in the UC Sustainable Practices Policy (UC SPP) and make recommendations for integration based on planetary and human health co-benefits; social, physical, and emotional well-being. The stipend for this award is $1,500.

The Healthy Campus Network leadership has committed to explore the integration of health and well-being throughout the UC SPP using a Health in All Policies (HiAP) approach. HiAP is a collaborative effort that aims to identify and integrate health across sectors and policies in a holistic and integrative manner. There are five fundamental elements of the HiAP approach:

- promote health and equity
- support intersectoral collaboration
- create co-benefits for multiple partners
- engage stakeholders
- create structural or process change

In accepting the GFI HCN Fellowship, the student agrees to:

1. Attending the Fall 2021 HiAP training workshop and including faculty mentor.
2. Regular check-ins with HCN Campus Lead and selected mentor to provide progress reports.
3. Review and strong understanding of current UC SPP.
4. GFI Fellow and faculty mentor attend monthly consortium calls and be prepared to present progress reports.
5. The GFI HCN Fellows will generate a recommendations report from the identified stakeholders for integration into the UC SPP. The final report will include the recommendations for the assigned policy area, a list of stakeholders consulted and their reason for involvement, and any other important systemwide considerations identified by their research.
