USC Student Well-Being Index Survey 2021

Your voice. Your community. Our well-being.
Who takes the survey:
All enrolled undergraduate and graduate students will receive an invitation link to the 2021 USC Student Well-being Index Survey (SWIS) from the USC Student Health, Office for Health Promotion Strategy.

What does it cover:
This survey asks about different aspects of your health behaviors and other aspects of well-being. Subject areas include:

- Sense of belonging
- Fairness and equity
- Positive mental health
- At-risk drinking
- Sexual assault
- Upstanding behaviors

Elective Modules
- COVID-19 vaccine
- Religious and worldview identities
- Belonging
- Eating disorder
When do I take it:
Survey launches: March 15, 2021
Survey closes: April 25, 2021

Where do I find it:
Look for an email from hpstrategy@usc.edu with your personalized survey link.

How long will it take:
20-25 minutes

Why me and what is this about?
Make your voice heard! We are asking all students at the University of Southern California to answer the survey. Your participation helps to enhance campus life and improve the experience of every USC student. We will be using data from the survey to advocate for policies, resources, and plan for services and programs to encourage a healthy, safe and nondiscriminatory environment at the University of Southern California.