Career Plan

In fall of 2018 I visited the career fair and applied to Tyson Foods. My application was accepted, and I started a year-round IT internship in their Emerging Technologies Department. I worked full time for them over the summer. At the end of my summer internship they offered me a full-time position on my team. I accepted the offer. I am now contracted to work for them for at least one year after my graduation in May 2020. I was considering grad school, but I have decided against it because of my exciting opportunity at Tyson.
