

Career Plan

Austin Kreulach

I plan to enroll in a Ph.D. program in artificial intelligence at a leading university. I am currently developing my applications to Purdue University, the University of Chicago, and Georgia Tech. Following my graduation, I will pursue an appointment in a tenure track position at an American university. I hope to spend the rest of my career doing research in computational creativity, creating mathematical art, and mentoring both undergrad and grad students in their own research and academic journey.
