Funding for non-Project Related Professional Development of CCCR Associates and Student Affiliates

Description: Funds are available to CCCR Associates and Student Affiliates for professional development opportunities related to their research. Funds may be used for conference travel if applicants are presenting on a topic related to cultural research, attending a conference with opportunities for collaborations on cultural research, or attending to expand one’s social networks in order to conduct cultural research (e.g., international conferences). Other potential options for the use of funds include webinars, workshops, or trainings related to cultural and cross-cultural tools and competence in conducting such research. The Director and one member of the AB (rotating) will review proposals.

Application: Applicants should submit a two-three page description of:

1) their involvement in the Center,
2) an explanation of how the experience will advance and/or enhance one’s research on culture and psychology, and
3) a line-item budget or description of how the funds will be used ($5000 is the upper limit).

Applications must be submitted at least 4 weeks prior to when the funds are intended to be used, and must be submitted during the period when faculty are under contract (e.g., generally September – June). Applicants should only apply for conference funds after using Department travel resources. Applicants must submit a post-event one-page report to the Center Director on how the funds advanced their line of research.
