By completing this minor, students will be able to:

- Creatively express knowledge and information about the Salish Sea
- Develop an ethical practice of ongoing learning and cultivating a sense of place (everyday behaviors)
- Appreciate the importance of a diversity of perspectives, knowledges, tactics, and contributions to a collective effort to care for the Salish Sea
- Identify ongoing and emergent critical issues affecting the health of the Salish Sea (e.g. net pens, vessel traffic, oil spill threat, orca and salmon recovery, oil and gas transport, etc.)